

I'm Sure my landlord's covered.

But to what degree? Even if your landlord does have a flood insurance policy, chances are it only covers the structure on the property. Without a policy, your belongings are not protected against flood damage. The simple truth is that floods are the #1 natural disaster in this country. And they occur in all 50 states in places you'd least expect. Places like this. If you're renting a house or apartment, talk to us today about National Flood Insurance for your belongings. There's no need to be left with just your memories when you can easily get a policy backed by the Federal Government that gives you peace of mind.
